Virginia Voters Receiving Notices from State Department of Elections

Loudoun County election officials want voters to be aware of notices being sent by the Virginia Department of Elections to all Virginia voters this week regarding their polling locations for the November 8, 2022, general election. They want voters to know:

- There is only one polling place in Loudoun County that has changed from the last election. In the Middleburg Precinct, voting will take place at the Middleburg American Legion Post 295, 111 The Plains Road, until the new Middleburg Town Hall is completed.
- There will be future changes in Loudoun that will go into effect after the November 2022 election, due to the local redistricting plan adopted by the Board of Supervisors earlier this year.
- No action is required upon receipt of the notice.

“The only thing we would ask in regards to this notice from the state is that the voter write ‘return to sender’ on the envelope if the notice does not belong to someone in their household,” said Loudoun County General Registrar Judy Brown. “This will help us with our efforts to maintain our records of registered voters.”
