Loudoun County Website Offers News Subscription for Nonprofits

Loudoun County is expanding its news subscription channels to include news relevant to nonprofit organizations that provide various services to county residents.

Loudoun County coordinates and collaborates with nonprofit partners that deliver a wide variety of services to Loudoun County residents, including health and human services and related infrastructure of care services, particularly for underserved residents. The county also has nonprofit partners that focus on community services, economic development activities and other programs and services that support the county's viability and overall quality of life.

Nonprofit organizations are encouraged to subscribe to the new "Nonprofit Updates" category that is listed under the News Flash section of the Loudoun County website's "Notify Me" function. The Notify Me function allows users to enter an email or phone number and select the categories of information they would like to receive from Loudoun County.

Subscribers to the Nonprofit Updates category can choose to receive email and/or text updates, news releases and other information about annual funding opportunities, such as the Community Development Block Grant \(CDBG\) program, the Continuum of Care Program, the Human Services Nonprofit Grant Funding program, and the Tourism Grants Program.

More information, including a link to sign up for the nonprofit updates, is online at loudoun.gov/grantopportunities.

The Loudoun County website offers many convenient ways for the public to stay informed on a variety of subjects and projects through a variety of platforms, including emails and text updates through the county website and Alert Loudoun as well as the county's social media accounts. Subscribe and follow the county's information channels by visiting loudoun.gov/stayinformed.
