

Route 50 Lane Closure Tomorrow

Shirley Contracting believes that they have an opportunity over the next week to complete work that would enable them to get the third lane of 50 Westbound open.

Therefore, they will be taking the unusual step of implementing a lane closure tomorrow, Saturday December 12, from Stonecroft Blvd to Pleasant Valley (Fairfax) from 7:00 AM – 3:00 pm.

The weather forecast for tomorrow and next week is favorable. In order for them to be in position to place asphalt and get an intermediate surface on 50 next week, they'll need to do preparation work tomorrow.

I do expect significant delays, and I know that it will be tough given the likely holiday traffic at Chantilly Crossing. You should also expect midday lane closures next week on 50 WB, which we'll pass along once we have the details.

Obviously, we're all hopeful that Shirley can complete this work and give us the best Christmas present possible—3 lanes of 50 in both directions!
